

Lab Events - February 4, 2006

Can't Judge a Powder (B)
Circuit Lab (C)
Dynamic Planet (B & C)
Forensics (C)
Rocks and Minerals (B & C)
Water Quality (B)

Chem Lab (C)
Don't Bug Me (B & C)
Food Science (B & C)
Physics Lab (C)
Science of Fitness (B)

Students must stay outside the rooms until the Event Captain is ready to have them enter and begin. While they are outside, they may be given instructions, roll calls can be done, answer sheets may be handed out.

If some students are allowed to enter early, they will cruise around and look at as many questions as possible. This would obviously not be fair. No observers are allowed in lab events unless escorted by Liz Jablecki, Charles Jablecki or Rosemary Anderson.

Students must wear the safety articles required. If they do not, they will be automatically disqualified.

Most of the above events will be run as lab events. A few of them may be run as written exams. Obviously, students taking the written exams may enter the rooms early and sit down if other exams are not ongoing. Again, obviously, all students should get the exams and start on them at the same time.

Volunteers for lab events with stations are not allowed to leave until the event is over. Years ago a volunteer at the State Competition left a lab event and told his team what was on the test.